Brazil, Scotland and Fiji Knowledge Organiser KS2

Brazil	Scotland	Fiji
Continent: South America	Continent: Europe	Continent: Oceania

Physical features: Sugar Loaf Mountain, tropical rainforest	Physical features: Loch Ness, Highlands	Physical features: Great Astrolabe Reef, mangroves, archipelago
Human features: Christ the Redeemer	Human features: Edinburgh Castle, Glenfinnan Viaduct	Human features: Levuka, a colonial town.
Traditions/Customs: carnival	Traditions/Customs: Highland Games, tartan	Traditions/Customs: weaving, fire-walking
Conservation: Protecting The River Tiete, Sao Paula	Conservation: Protecting the environment – '50 for the Future'	Conservation: Protecting deforestation
	 The Highland Games, Scotland	 Weaving, Fiji

Carnival in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil

Where is Brazil? What human and physical features can you find there?	What is Brazil doing to protect the environment?	Where is Scotland? What human and physical features can you find there?	What is Scotland doing to protect the environment?	Where is Fiji? What human and physical features can you find there?	What is Fiji doing to protect the environment?
Brazil is in South America. The largest river is The Amazon. In the city of Rio de Janeiro you can see Sugar Loaf Mountain. Also in Rio de Janeiro you can see the statue of Christ the Redeemer.	People are working on The River Tiete Project in a city called Sao Paulo. Lots of people moved to the area by the river and built their homes without sewage pipes. Due to this, a large amount of sewage used to end up in the river. Now, many more homes are connected to the sewage system and more sewage is treated. The river is starting to be less polluted.	Scotland is in the United Kingdom (England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland). It is in the continent of Europe. Loch Ness is a popular place to visit for tourists. People also like to visit The Highlands. People also like to visit Edinburgh Castle. There are many castles in Scotland.	The Scottish Wildlife Trust have published a list of fifty things to make Scotland's environment better – '50 for the Future'. Some of the ideas include: Returning Lynx to the countryside. Creating new wildflower meadows. Reducing pesticide use.	The Republic of Fiji is in Oceania. It lies in the South Pacific Ocean. Fiji is an archipelago (group of islands). It is made up of 330 islands although most people live on two of them. The Great Astrolabe Reef is a coral reef which is home to many species. Levuka is a small town that looks similar to when the British ruled Fiji.	People decided that there was too much deforestation in Fiji. They had been selling the timber to earn a living but they needed to think of other ways to live instead. The government give the groups of people money to look after the rainforest. The people also have businesses such as selling honey.
 Christ the Redeemer	 River Tiete	 Edinburgh Castle	 Returning Lynx	 The Great Astrolabe Reef	 Producing Honey